Meet Executive Chef Tony Cafarelli

For Anthony (Tony) Cafarelli, a love of food started at the age of 8. He would watch Julia Child on PBS on Saturday mornings while other kids watched cartoons. “I knew that cooking would be a part my life from that point,” he says.

Fortunately for our residents, Ferris Hills at West Lake is also a part of Tony’s life. He was named our executive chef in late 2023 following X years as our sous chef.

A Rochester native, Tony graduated from Fairport High School. He studied Business/Marketing at Monroe Community College and – through the American Culinary Federation – became a Certified Sous Chef in 2003.

Tony has been a banquet chef, a corporate trainer for Applebee’s and a private chef. He also opened a handful of restaurants for friends and consulted for them.

In addition, he served as a culinary instructor for high school students through BOCES. “Chefs spent time to show me how to cook, and I wanted to give back to young aspiring chefs,” he said.

Tony spent half of his career as the sous chef at Woodcliff Hotel & Spa in Fairport, but when the pandemic came along, his path brought him to Ferris Hills. He couldn’t be happier.

“There is a great atmosphere happening here and cooking for the residents is totally rewarding!”
